

STORM HITS TEXAS COAST

6 to Be Elected in Run-Off Tuesday

Three Hempstead County Races Are to Be Voted Upon

Sheriff's Office, Tax Assessor and Representative's Post to Be Filled

ONE STATE CONTEST

Citizens Urged by Governor Furell to Vote in Run-Off Primary

Hempstead county voters will go to the polls Tuesday to settle campaign issues in the first run-off primary election ever held in Arkansas. There will be only one state office to fill which is contested between J. Oscar Humphrey and Charley Parker, candidates for state auditor.

Complete returns will be tabulated at the Shipley building and The Star office. The newspaper will not issue an election extra nor broadcast returns over a loud-speaker.

The run-off ticket: For State Auditor—Charley Parker, J. Oscar Humphrey. For Representative in Congress—Wade Kitchens, Tilman B. Parks. For Representative in Senate, Eighth Judicial District—Ned A. Steward and Steve Carrigan.

For Sheriff—Jim Bearden, Clarence Baker. For Tax Assessor—Dewey Hendrix, Mrs. Isabelle (Fred) Oustad. For Representative—L. L. Pilkinton, Willie Harris.

Voting Places
Voting places in the city for Tuesday's election were announced as: Ward One—Arkansas Bank Building (downstairs).

Ward Two—Hope Building and Material company.

Ward Three—Frisco passenger depot.

Ward Four—City Hall.

Ward Five—Cotton row, next to Henry Watkins' office.

Ward Six—Hempstead County Lumber company.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m.

Asks Citizens to Vote
LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Voters are urged by Governor Furell and Democratic party leaders to turn out and cast ballots Tuesday in the state's first run-off primary.

Besides the state auditor's race, one congressional race will be decided, and county and district officers will be elected in 56 of the 75 counties.

"The only reason for a preferential primary," Governor Furell said, "is to prevent rule by a minority. It seems only natural for those who took an interest in the first primary to retain that interest in the run-off election."

"I see no reason why there should not be a heavy vote in the run-off. There is no reason for a loss of interest in the affairs of the state in the run-off election."

It is practically certain that if there is a light vote in Tuesday's election opponents of the run-off will seize upon the fact as an argument that the people do not want the law.

The vote is certain to be smaller than in the first primary, because fewer offices are at stake, and because it is not certain that elections will be held in some counties where no races are to be decided in the county.

The state office at stake is sought by Auditor J. Oscar Humphrey and Charley Parker. The incumbent lacks 11,000 votes of a majority over Parker and R. W. Parrish in the August 14 primary.

The congressional race is between Tilman B. Parks, incumbent and Wade Kitchens in the Seventh district.

Regulation Seen for Broadcasts

Committee of Bar Will Make Report Tuesday at Convention

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(P)—Additional regulation of radio communications affecting the "character, quality and quantity" of radio broadcasting service was predicted Monday in a report issued by an American Bar Association committee.

The association's committee on communications, which formed last year passage of legislation creating a federal communications commission well in advance of the introduction of the Bill-Ryan bill, will present its report to the association convention which opens here Tuesday.

HALF a million people may starve to death this summer because of the drouth.

AAA Program to Provide Billion

Payments to Arkansas Farmers Will Total $23,456,000

WASHINGTON.—(P)—More than a billion dollars is destined to go into the pockets of the nation's farmers through the AAA before the end of 1935.

Nearly 300 millions have already been paid out, Louis H. Bean, economic advisor of the AAA said Monday.

The payments assure that farmers as a whole will have a much larger cash income this year than during 1933.

Where production has been reduced, he said, prices are higher.

Arkansas farmers are to receive $23,456,000 from the AAA program.

Predict Increase School Attendance

Nation Getting Ready to Take Care of 31,000,000 Pupils

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The nation's educational system, still staggering from the blows of the depression, is getting ready to care for about one-fourth of the country population this fall.

With attendances augmented by thousands who in normal times would find compensatory occupations, it is estimated that the enrollment will reach a record-breaking grand total of more than 31,000,000 students, some 28,000,000 in the public schools and 3,000,000 in private institutions. The increase over last year's attendance is figured to be between 300,000 and 400,000.

Government education officials say the brunt of the burden imposed by increased enrollment will be borne by the high schools, which already are overcrowded and handicapped by drastic curtailment of facilities. Moreover, the drouth and continued pressure of adverse economic conditions are expected to make 1934-1935 the worst year for the schools in some sections of the country.

Improvement Forecast
They believe, however, that on the whole the depression in education has about reached bottom, that greater stability will be attained in school financing in many states this year and that general improvement will be noticed a year hence.

Emory M. Foster, chief statistician of the United States office of education, says the outlook has been brightened by the movement toward restoration and enlargement of state aid for schools, by the business pick-up in several southern states where the situation had been desperate and by the improvements in municipal tax collections.

Nearly all school districts are reported to have some resources for opening their schools this fall. While no definite allotments of federal funds to prevent the closing of schools have been made, some states have taken steps to insure the operation of all public schools and the government is setting up machinery to keep the schools going in the drouth areas.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Marriage puts many girls in the drouth.

Not in a century has there been a drouth so severe. Crops have withered under a blazing sun which has kept the temperature at 115 degrees, day and night for weeks. Rivers have dried up and springs have stopped flowing.

There is no food to be had at all, over wide areas; in scores of villages and towns the supply of drinking water has become exhausted.

The federal government wants to do something to relieve suffering, but it is weak, so overburdened with previous efforts to combat the drouth and so short of funds that it is very doubtful that it will be able to do anything effective.

X X X
These few sentences present a living nightmare. They do not apply, of course, to the United States. They do, however, apply to China. They were taken from a recent news dispatch telling of the horrible crisis which China is facing this summer.

The Chinese drouth is one of the worst in living memory. So is the one that hit the United States. Indeed the weather seems to have been about the same in each nation. Much heat, no rain, a steady depletion of water supplies, a burning and blistering of all growing things.

In the United States it has meant great financial loss for the farmers and higher prices for the city dwellers.

In China it has meant nothing else than wide-spread starvation—people dying by the scores of thousands because they cannot get food and water.

X X X
The contrast is instructive. The disaster was the same, in each case; but in one land there was a social and economic organization capable of meeting the crisis, while in the other land there was not.

In other words, these terrible natural catastrophes that come upon us ever so often can be robbed of their worst terrors if society is organized to meet them properly.

Mankind can triumph over nature if it will. Its worst dangers are those that come when the human element itself proves incapable of meeting the challenge which fate periodically offers.

The regulations laid down by the new Federal Securities and Exchange Commission contain rules designed to check speculation by corporation officials who like to take little flyers in the securities of their own companies.

Need of such a rule was abundantly shown by disclosures made before the Senate's famous stock markets committee.

Case after case was cited in which corporation officials got more interested in making a stock market killing than in conducting the affairs of their corporation in the interest of the stockholders.

This not only led to the wholesale milking of suckers in Wall Street, all too often it subordinated the rights of the genuine investor to the speed of the speculating official—to the investor's direct financial loss.

If the commission is able to curb such activities, business as a whole will be in much better shape.

X X X
It is good to learn that the president has ordered a full survey of all the "alphabet soup" agencies in Washington, with a view to making their future activities more coherent and harmonious than has been in the immediate past.

There has been a great deal of confusion in the capital these last few months. Part of it arose because some of the innumerable agencies overlapped one another, and part of it came because there did not seem to be any definite course charted for all to follow.

The conferences which President Roosevelt is beginning ought to help clear this confusion. The jobs that are being attempted are too large and too important to permit of any more drifting or working at cross-purposes.

The big need of the day is to get all hands squared away and headed toward some clearly defined goal.

To Enact Law Against Political Mudslinging

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(P)—Political "whispering campaigns" and mudslinging will be taboo in Arkansas if a legislature does the bidding of Governor Furell.

A bill designed to disqualify any candidate who makes false statements about the personal or official conduct of his opponent in order to keep him from holding office is to be presented to the legislature, the governor said.

This bill would have already been enacted into law if the last legislature had not been faced with so many problems, he said.

Celebration and Merchant's Show Here Cancelled

Legion Withdraws When Misunderstanding With Promoter Develops

WILL REFUND MONEY

Post Expresses Thanks to Those Who Co-Operated in Proposed Celebration

An American Legion Celebration and Merchant's Exhibit, scheduled to be held at Fair Park August 30-31 and September 1, has been called off, Oliver Williams, post commander, announced Monday.

Withdrawal of the Legion post was caused by a misunderstanding between the promoter, Roy O'Bryan, and the Legion post.

Sale of tickets to the pageant which was scheduled for Thursday night, will be refunded. Persons holding tickets will receive their money from W. M. Ramsey at Checkered Cafe.

William's Statement
A statement to the public, issued by Mr. Williams follows:

"Owing to a misunderstanding in connection with the promoting of the American Legion celebration and Merchant's Exhibit, the Leslie Hudleston post has withdrawn and is no longer connected therewith."

"No one is authorized to bind the local post in any manner pertaining to said proposed celebration."

"We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the members of the American Legion Auxiliary, and other citizens of Hope who have responded and co-operated in the preparation for said proposed celebration."

"We assure them that we are deeply grateful for any assistance that has been rendered."

Convicts Still in Rebellious Mood

Guards and Policemen Stop Prisoners in Wire Climb

COLLEGEVILLE, Pa.—(P)—Sub-machine guns and rifles in the hands of guards and state policemen quickly ended another threatened uprising at riot-scarred Graterford penitentiary Sunday night.

Several convicts who took part in Saturday's costly riot, attempted to climb over an open wire cage in which most of the trouble-makers were confined after the disturbance.

The convicts behind the wire sought to join several hundred prisoners in a nearby cell block who were pounding furniture against bars of their cells and shouting because they had been locked in several hours earlier than usual as a precautionary measure.

Guards around the wire cage threatened to shoot the climbing convicts and they quickly dropped to the ground. Other guards and state police entered the cell block and quickly restored order.

Part of the prison population in a riotous three hours Saturday burned a storage barn and two garage buildings, damaged three cell blocks and wrecked the prison kitchen, butcher shop, laundry, bake shop, workshop and office of the warden-in-charge.

Seventy state policemen, 60 state highway patrolmen and prison guards crushed the rebellion—the first outbreak of its kind the "model prison" has had, without firing a shot. No one was seriously injured and none of the prisoners escaped.

Kidnaped Negro's Car Found Near DeQueen

A Pontiac coupe, stolen from James Moore, negro employee of the Arkansas Machine Specialty company, when Moore and a woman companion were kidnaped near the city limits a week ago Sunday, has been recovered.

The car was found in a wooded area west of DeQueen. The car apparently was not damaged. Joe Hough, Broken Bow, Okla., officer said.

The men who kidnaped the negro couple were believed to be Curly Smith and Buck Yates, fugitives from the Arkansas penitentiary. Smith is a Hempstead county man. They fled from prison August 12 and have not been captured.

The two negroes were stripped of their clothing except hose and robbed of $8.35.

Negro Held for Fatal Accident

Roy Franks Bound Over in Death of Ella Holmes Here Saturday

Roy Franks, 23-year-old Hope negro, Monday was bound over to the grand jury in municipal court on charges of involuntary manslaughter growing out of the death of Ella Holmes, negro woman who was killed in an automobile accident late Saturday afternoon on the outskirts of Hope.

Bond for Franks was fixed at $750. The preliminary examination was waived.

The negro woman, aged about 35, was struck and instantly killed by a car driven by Franks. Her neck and right leg was broken and she sustained a deep gash about the head.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the old Emmet-Blevins highway. Franks and several other negroes were returning to Hope, driving at a high rate of speed.

Witnesses said Franks apparently lost control of the car and struck the negro woman who was standing on the edge of the highway.

The negro driver failed to stop. He continued to Hope and after delivering the car to its owner, disappeared. The automobile was owned by Roy Bonds of Blevins.

Early Sunday morning the negro Franks surrendered to Officers Homer Burke and William Reeves.

Asked why he didn't stop after an accident, the negro said he "was scared to death."

Other municipal court cases Monday: Alvin Weisner, charged with reckless driving, was acquitted by a municipal court jury. A previous trial resulted in a hung jury.

The case resulted from an accident several weeks ago on the Hope-Fulton road in which R. J. Ingram and his two children of Dallas, Texas, were injured when their car, after being struck by Weisner, overturned and burst into flames.

Fred Mack was bound over to the grand jury on theft charges for stealing $15 worth of merchandise from R. M. LaGrone, Jr. & Co.

Dazzie Lee Powell was fined $25 and costs when she pleaded guilty to assault and battery charges.

George Poindexter, disturbing the peace, fined $10 and costs.

James Elites, drunkness, forfeited $10 cash bond when he failed to appear for trial.

Fairbanks Reunion Is Predicted Within Near Future

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(P)—Douglas Fairbanks and his estranged wife, Mary Pickford, went motoring to the actor's Rancho Zorro near San Diego Sunday.

They spent the morning in the ranch's romantic atmosphere, looking at the tree plantings, the horses and cattle. The couple used to ride together here often.

Doug cancelled a scheduled yachting trip with Joseph Schenck and Darryl Zanuck, associate film executives, to be with Mary.

When Fairbanks returned last Tuesday from a long sojourn in Europe he at once began what appeared to be a new courting of Miss Pickford, who has a suit for divorce pending.

Allred Elected Texas Governor

Youthful Attorney Points to Next Step in Crushing Fergusonism

DALLAS.—(P)—Vaulted into the governorship of Texas by a half million rebellious "nays" against Fergusonism, youthful James V. Allred pointed Monday to the next step in his fight to crush the power James E. Ferguson had held over state politics for two decades.

The attorney general, who will inevitably be going through the motions in the November 5 general election against a Republican opponent, eyed the next skirmish centered in the Democratic state convention to be held September 11 at Galveston.

Allred's nomination in the second Democratic primary over Tom F. Hunter, a Wichita Falls neighbor, was equivalent to election. Texas voters use their ballots to overwhelmingly elect Democrats.

Allred's cohorts planned a stubborn fight against any attempt at affirmation of the state Democratic executive committee's recommendation that Ferguson be designated national committeeman.

"Farmer Jim" cast into the evening of a checkered political career by Allred's triumph, was endorsed as the national committeeman last March 24, after J. C. Adams, Dallas, resigned.

The national committee has never accepted Ferguson as a member.

Members of the state convention will caucus to choose 31 new executive members. The gubernatorial nominee is expected to control the convention. There is a concerted movement about to name Wright Morrow, prominent Dallas banker, national committeeman to replace Ferguson.

The once mighty power that Ferguson exercised over the Texas electorate crumbled further in Saturday's election. After his choice in the first primary, C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls, lagged behind in third position. Ferguson took up his torch for Hunter in the run-off. But his strongholds weren't enough to defeat Allred—whom he termed "just a boy."

NRA Troubles Are Believed Settled

Dispute Over Re-Organization Plans Causes Johnson to Walk Out

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Deep seated character of NRA's latest troubles became apparent Monday when it was learned that General Hugh S. Johnson angrily walked out on last Monday's White House conference.

He resigned in writing, but later reconsidered only on the firm insistence of President Roosevelt.

The dispute arose over an NRA reorganization plan submitted the president by Donald Richberg, NRA counsel. Among other things, the plan was interpreted by Johnson as contemplating his own retirement.

Under reconciliation terms, Johnson stays as administrator and probably will become, later on chairman of the board controlling NRA activities.

Richberg's friends say he will continue as NRA counsel, although there will be no doubt that Johnson is boss.

Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, is expected to confine her activities more closely to the labor department in view of impending strikes over the nation.

Fall Grain for Drouth Remedy

Hempstead Farmers Urged to Take Advantage of Grain Loans

Farmers in Hempstead county should take advantage of loan that is being offered them through Crop Loan Office, states Frank R. Stanley, county agent.

The grain loan to plant fall grains such as oats, rye, barley and wheat will do a great deal to relieve feed shortage due to drouth. All farmers that anticipate a shortage of feed should make applications at once for loan, as date for receiving loan will close on September 15.

If an open winter should follow one might readily expect an acre of these small grains to furnish grazing for around 200 head of cattle for a period of about 28 days. If the condition which followed the drouth in 1930 prevails again very rapid growth of the fall sown grains may be expected.

In addition to the grains shown for grazing, an acreage of fall sown oats should be sown with the idea of having them a supply of grain for work stock next spring. Grain can be obtained in this manner as early as it is possible to grow any home supply. These two needs for large seedings of fall grains should double the amount usually sown, provided fall seeding conditions are favorable.

Electric Power Fails as Hurricane Moves in On Gulf City

SUDDEN WARNING

Residents Boarding Up Homes as Disturbance Nears

DALLAS, Texas.—(P)—City electric power in Galveston failed Monday because of a hurricane brewing on the coastal city, Southwestern Bell Telephone company employees reported.

Efforts to reach Galveston by telephone failed. Late reports from Galveston said the hurricane was hitting badly.

Warnings Posted
HOUSTON, Texas.—(P)—A tropical disturbance of moderate intensity, cropping along at eight miles an hour, moved toward the Texas coast at a point between Port Arthur and Port O'Connor Monday.

Residents along the flat coastal plain boarded up their homes as the disturbance, attended by heavy winds and strong seas over a small area, moved inward. Residents of the Bay City area, directly in the path of the storm if it held its course, were preparing for a stiff blow.

Choppy seas and a tide slightly above normal were noted in the gulf. Vacationists were advised of a government's warning and some scurried to higher ground while others remained to await more definite information.

Northeast winds blew across the gulf, crossing Galveston and Houston. Thunderstorms fell in the cities late Sunday but residents generally were surprised by the sudden storm warning.

Storm Nears
PORT ARTHUR, Texas.—(P)—Hurricane warnings were raised along the Texas gulf coast from Port Arthur to Galveston at 8:15 a. m. Monday. The hurricane signals replaced storm warnings that had been down previously.

The barometer at Port Arthur read 29.34 and at Port O'Connor it registered 29.92. There was a three-foot tide at Sabine with moderate swells.

Rowe Pitches 16th Straight Victory

El Dorado Youth Enters Hall of Fame With Great Exhibition

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit giant pitching ace, Saturday won his bid for his 16th consecutive victory, and baseball's hall of fame, by driving in the winning run for the Tigers 6 to 2 victory over Washington in the ninth inning.

The victory for the 22-year-old right hander makes him the joint holder of the American League's record for consecutive games with Walter Johnson, Joe Wood and Lefty Grove.

Detroit also advanced further toward the flag Saturday, extending its margin over New York to five full games.

Until the ninth it looked as if all the Schoolboy's pitching and hitting was futile. Washington, playing a sparkling defense game behind Professor Monte Weaver, led 2 to 1.

But Hank Greenberg, first up in the ninth inning, hit a long foul into the left field stands and then poked a towering homer over the right field wall. Owen singled, Weaver was replaced by Russell. Fox singled to center. The Washington infield drew in and up walked Rowe. He fouled a couple and then blasted a single to left center. That was enough to win but an error let another run in.

Rowe had struck out only one until the ninth but with a rain threatening to stop proceedings and cause a Washington victory, he bared down.

Schulte, first up was safe on Rogel's bad throw. Sisko forced Schulte and in quick succession Rowe fanned two pinch hitters. Harris and the last one, Travis, on three pitched balls.

Your Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Mosquito Still Holds Some Health Menace

The mosquito is a pest, but it does not represent the menace to health in this country that it represents in the tropics. Mosquitoes in the northern portions of the United States carry little disease. Nevertheless, they are sufficiently a nuisance to make it desirable to get rid of them.

Unless the conditions under which they breed are suitably controlled, it is conceivable that they might become a serious menace to health.

Malaria is the disease chiefly transmitted by mosquitoes in the United States. It has been stamped out in most communities by suitable public health measures.

It may be said of the mosquito that the female of the species is more deadly than the male. The female mosquito is the only one that bites human beings; the male is a vegetarian.

Few people realize that there are more than 500 varieties of mosquitoes throughout the world, although only seven or eight are commonly seen in the cities of the United States.

To breed and develop properly, the mosquito must have water. It hatches from an egg deposited in water. Its favorite breeding grounds are rain water barrels, cisterns, tanks, garden pools, slow-flowing streams, ponds, and sagging gutters on houses and sewer catch basins.

The time required for hatching from the egg to a mosquito that is able to fly is from seven to ten days. Hence it is clear that the way to get rid of mosquitoes in any vicinity is to get rid of all stagnant water. When it is impossible to get rid of such water, control the breeding of mosquitoes by suitable methods.

The placing of oil on the water will stop their breeding, but this naturally makes it impossible to use the water for any ordinary domestic purpose.

Mosquitoes may be prevented from biting human beings by using 16 mesh wire screening, attached tightly to windows and doors. When mosquitoes are in the house, it has been suggested that they be removed by a very simple technique.

First darken the rooms during the latter part of the afternoon, then wait about a half hour for the mosquitoes to emerge from their hiding places, then spray any commercial mosquito destroying fluid into the room.

After about another half hour, the room may be ventilated.

In spreading disease, the mosquito bites a person whose blood is infected; then, after a suitable incubation period within its own body, transplants the infection to a healthy person, whom it bites later.

The battle between man and the insect pests is a continuous one.

Here's A 'Newsreel' of Liberty Events—Gossip of Books, Authors in Paragraph Form

By BRUCE CATTON

Here's a brief newsreel of current literary doings, for the reader who is in a hurry.

"Let Us Be Faithful," by Allen Corliss (Farrar and Rinehart; $2), is a novel about a young husband and wife in a milieu where such marriages don't seem to be in style. It is told with tenderness and insight; unfortunately, the author inadvertently makes the husband such a blithering ass that it's hard to care what happens to him.

"Wasn't the Depression Terrible?" by O. Soglow (Covici, Friede; $2) is a book of sketches about the depression by the man who draws the Little King. With a few exceptions, they are remarkably dull and un-funny.

"The Dangerous Age in Men," by Chester F. Stone, M. D. (Macmillan; $1.75), is a frank discussion of those glandular disorders which attack so many men in middle life. It tells how these ills can usually be avoided or overcome, and should be a useful little book.

Carl Carmer, who wrote "Stars Fell on Alabama," was such an absent-minded professor, when a member of the Hamilton College faculty, that he once completely forgot a faculty meeting and went to a circus instead. . . . YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

It's A Wise Mother Who Knows Her Child By His Many Nicknames

"Names" is the subject today. Perhaps there is no baby—perhaps not. It doesn't matter, because after all we are going to "nick" him anyway.

A mother has three children, let us say—Elizabeth, Margaret and Edward. But before long she begins to wonder what their names really are. Elizabeth's father calls her Bess, her grandmother insists on Eliza, the girls call her Beth. The doctor calls her Betty, her aunt calls her Lili and her uncle teases her with Bridget and Lizzie.

As for Margaret, the child has to answer to almost anything—the usual string attached to "Margaret"—Feg and Marg and Gretta and Maggie and Me.

And Ed Even More So

Edward gets Ted, and Ed, and Ned and Red or Slim or Butch or Pie Face. The nice old lady at the corner calls him Edger. He even gets Edison or Edsel at times.

The result is that their mother tries hard to avoid all nicknames so the public will know her children are fit for a passport and not traveling with a dozen aliases.

One of the hardest questions to solve is the name for the new baby. But once selected, it is a problem of selecting a nickname. There should be two christenings, one has come to think, because when Katherine is a year old it would never do to call her that. She must be Kay, or Kate, Kitty or Kit. Reeny Kathy or anything but her own cognomen.

Even Mary Suffers

Mary, the loveliest name in the world, has as many short-cuts as a corner lot. Strange, isn't it? If her name were Meredith, she would be called Merry. But it wouldn't be spelled "Merry" by the smallest chance. Oh, no. Because what are you trying to do today is to avoid giving any one a real name except at the altar, on diplomas, on savings accounts or vouchers.

Why? The habit is certainly growing, although it is not new.

The loveliest names of a past generation or two were often ruined. Cornelia was Neilly, Elvira was Ella—Lettitia, Tish—Matilda, Tillie—Angeline, Ina—Selina, Ina—Martha, Mattie—and Agnes just plain Ag.

The Case of "Flea"

Boys' names have never been distorted so much as those of girls, even though "Abraham" ever was "Abe." As a rule male names were abbreviated to the first syllable, or the last, and it went at that.

It is strange about nicknames, sometimes. Often they have no relation to the actual name at all, such as that of the girl called Madeline. She eventually became "Flea," so dubbed by her brothers, because she was small. She even gets mail addressed to Miss Flea Smith because half the people do not know her name.

This is the trouble with the short-cut name. It is confusing when someone wants to look up the owner in the telephone book, make out a check, or give him for reference.

We are skidding pretty fast, I believe, into the habit of the nomadic makeshift. If there is to be one, best to have it just one, and not a dozen.

Public Asked to Assure Fair Louisiana Election

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—More than 100 of New Orleans' leading citizens prominent in civic, professional and social affairs, and for the most part not connected with any political movement, Saturday issued a public call to duty to fellow citizens to join them in guaranteeing a fair and peaceful congressional election September 11.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

from which she had just come. It is such a friendly little town, so many affairs going on all the time, and she has always been popular. She'll marry, of course; one hopes she will marry money.

"And that," Denis mused, "will be the end."

"How can you say that?" Lois demanded, shocked. "She'll have a lovely time; probably a little car, a nice house, some children. Just like all the other girls."

"But in the meantime," Denis said pleasantly, interrogatively, "just what does she do with herself?"

"Oh, you make me very angry some times, Denis," announced his cousin crisply, rising. "Jack, talk some sense to him, won't you? If everybody were like you," she said hotly, "there just would not be any world!"

Denis laughed and young Dr. Hart, snatching his third cup of coffee, smiled indulgently. Lois and Denis Fenway had practically grown up together and quarreled passionately and intermittently as people of the same blood often do, but there was no real rancor in their altercations. Although, as Lois said to herself, since Denis came back from Europe this time he was too sophisticated and holed for words. Of course it was only a pose. Anyone could tell that and yet it irritated her at times, worried her, too.

"There wouldn't be any babies for Jack to bring, that's what you mean," Denis said, laughing again at her unsmiling face. But under his laughter and badinage he was remembering the white, strained face of the girl he had talked to that morning. What was troubling her? Surely no light village romance with one of those callow boys who were always tumbling in or out of battered cars hereabouts?

There was something definitely appalling about the child. A fragrance, intangible and delicate, hovered about her. The sight of her slim, sandalwood hand on the grass beside him that morning, clenching and unclenching itself, had stirred her oddly. And her eyes, so limpid, so appealing, had been lifted to him for help.

The telephone rang and Jean came to the living room door to instant later to say that old Mrs. Manville had another attack and . . . laughter wanted to know if the doctor would come over right away. "Oh, darling, and you're so tired! I hoped you could snatch a little rest," Lois laughed. She followed him out into the hall, putting his coat lapel, and Denis reflected that it was rather charming to see Lois and Jack together. They were fond of each other and no mistake. He'd come to be rather cynical about marriage, on the whole. The people he had known in Paris, a jolly, casual, garrulous lot, with the morals of tomatoes . . . well, they hadn't strengthened his faith in the old and honorable institution.

The thought haunted him all morning that he hadn't quite measured up to Boots' expectations. He should have been able to give her some tangible help—some assurance about a job, anything that would have lifted that strained, anxious look from her face.

"Well, I'll give her a ring to-morrow," he told himself, easily. "That will be fine enough."

Where Boots might be on the morrow he had no last idea.

"Now what is there for her to do?" he demanded.

"Oh, Boots has a beautiful time,"

She threw a furtive glance over her shoulder in the direction

Costly Bleach Isn't Needed to Re-Tone

Mention bleaching and reconditioning-of-summer-skin-preparations and some woman is sure to say, "But I don't want to put a lot of money into creams and lotions which I'll need for only a few weeks."

Budget being what they are, that's a reasonable enough argument. And the answer is that it is possible to get a complexion back into shape without spending money on anything except tissue cream. The kitchen shelf holds plenty of effective bleaches and softeners.

First of all, there's tomato juice. It bleaches and it tones. Simply pat it on after you've cleaned your face, let it dry and then rinse off.

The liquid from cucumber rinds that have been left over night in a small bowl of water is good, too. Apply with cotton pads.

Lemon juice, of course, is an efficacious bleach—but be sure to dilute it before you put it on face and neck. Use it full-strength on elbows and hands.

Don't forget about oatmeal. It's a fine, yet inexpensive, softener. Cook it just as you would for breakfast, strain off the liquid, let it cool and then pat it into your skin.

Always remember to use tissue cream after any kind of a bleach. Rinse and dry the skin before patting it on. If the summer sun has made your skin quite dry, leave a bit of the cream on all night.

I'd rather one would walk with me than merely tell the way.
The eye's a better pupil and more willing than the ear.
Fine counsel is confusing, but examples are always clear.
The best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds,
For to see good put in action is what everybody needs.
I can soon learn to do it, if you'll let me see it done.
I can watch your hands in action, but your tongue too fast may run.
The lectures you deliver may be very wise and true,
But I'd rather get my lesson by observing what you do.
I may not understand the high advice you like to give,
But there's no misunderstanding how you act and live. The Christian Leader.

Dr. Rajah Roma Says All Are Not Fitted College Education

BY DR. ROMA

Each year there are hundreds of young men and women who fail in their college courses. Naturally psychologists everywhere are giving this matter their attention. Many have reached the conclusion that these failures are due to the fact that many boys and girls are misfits in college, and would save their parents, the college, and themselves a lot of trouble, by not attending college.

In deciding whether to send your boy or girl to college, you should send your child to a competent psychologist and find out just what your boy or girl is best suited for in life, their aptitudes, their abilities and their possibilities.

We have become imbued with ideas and false ideals as to the social value of a college education. The college is essential to our democracy and to every youth who enters its doors.

Desire is back of power—you must believe in and love your work in life to make a success besides having the qualifications and ability. I have been helping your people plan their life work for years. In many cases I have had to show parents how wrong they were in forcing their boy or girl to attend college when their success lies somewhere else.

If your boy or girl is inclined toward a college education and ambitious to learn in order to broaden their character; by all means send them to college. But for your boys and girls who are not so inclined the best method is to consult a capable psychologist. Psychology is not a method; it is a study and a deep one. You must have a psychological mind and thought before you can become a true psychologist or able to master the subject and solve the problems of others.

Ask yourself the question: Why does the president, the merchant or the banker have his personal adviser? I can answer these for you. He needs a psychological mind to solve his problems. What makes a good detective? His mind and subconscious mind work in harmony. I can fill this paper up on this subject and not cover the first chapter of it but space will not permit further discussion at this time.

In conclusion I will say that each of us wants to be happy and successful in life and by a true understanding of ourselves, the goal can be accomplished.

Youth, 11, Wins Soap Box Derby

Robert Turner Awarded 4-Year College Scholarship and Wrist Watch

A true soap-box type racer won the Chevrolet-sponsored All-American Soap Box Derby at Dayton, Ohio, August 19, in which the winners of local contests in 34 cities competed for the national championship.

The winning car, driven by Robert Turner, age 11, of Muncie, Ind., who built it out of lumber, tin, and scrap iron, roled on bare wheels and plain bearings to victory over more elaborate creations (fitted with roller bearings, rubber tires, springs and automobile type steering devices).

One of the winner's wheels collapsed just after he crossed the finish line. Turner, the first national soap box champion, received as prizes a four-year college scholarship and a hundred dollar wrist watch.

Both the Kettering cup, offered for the best constructed car, and the Rickenbacker trophy, for the fastest heat, were won by Jack Furstenberg, age 15, of Omaha, who raced an all-enclosed streamline vehicle.

In the final heat, in which the winners of each of the classifications competed on a handicap basis, Furstenberg finished third. The electrical timer showed that in the finals his car was 10 seconds slower than in the heat in which he set the speed that earned him the Rickenbacker trophy. Second place was won by Claude Alexander of Chattanooga.

Crowds estimated at 50,000 persons, most of them in grandstands and bleachers erected along Burkhardt Hill, watched the races. The event, which was singularly free from mishaps, was run on a brick paved hill 3.8-mile long with a grade as high as 12 per cent.

The crowd was frequently thrilled by exhibitions of quick thinking and skillful driving on the part of the youngsters, and many a racer who did not cross the line first in his heat received louder and longer applause than the winner, in tribute to some feat of skill or nerve.

One such driver was 14-year-old Claude Healy of Detroit. In the semi-final heat, an iron tire broke and curled up, and Healy drove the last 60 yards with his left front wheel jammed to a standstill, yet succeeded in keeping the car from going into the rail.

The neatest trick of the race was performed by an unidentified driver. Just as he crossed under the bridge at the finish line, the rubber tire of his right front wheel came off. As the driver overtook the rolling tire, he calmly reached out, picked it up, and waved it to the crowd to show that all was well.

ficials said. An additional 300,000 they said, may subsequently be ordered from the mills in the silk, rayon and woolen industries.

The date for the walkout, jealously guarded by the strike committee, headed by J. Francis Gorman, was set for September 4 to give the union time to complete details for the strike, the largest numerically to confront the administration with the exception of the general strike in San Francisco.

The strike committee was ordered by a recent convention to call the general strike "on or before September 1." The deadline falls on a Saturday, when few mills are in operation. The following Monday, Labor Day, is a holiday, and the strike strikers settled upon September 4 as the day upon which they hope to achieve stoppage of cotton mills operations.

The Laxative For Upset Stomachs

When you need a laxative your stomach is usually upset—to take Peena-mint, the device, it is cooling and soothing—and all you swallow is the delightfully beneficial mint flavor, helpful saliva juices, and a sensitive laxative ingredient which doctors regularly prescribe. And, because you chew Peena-mint, a more natural but thorough action. Delay is dangerous so today get back on schedule and stay there—chew non-habit forming Peena-mint for constipation.

MANY people find it a good plan, when buying a car, to consider first what it does to make motoring more enjoyable; next, what it costs to operate; and last, its price. Proceeding thus, you find that Chevrolet alone combines Knee-Action, Body by Fisher, a valve-in-head engine, and cable-controlled brakes—definite additions to motoring pleasure. Further investigation reveals that owners say a Chevrolet saves on gas, oil, and upkeep. If you now consider price you discover that the Chevrolet is priced extremely low. Your Chevrolet dealer invites you to go over the facts with him.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 19
Referred to the People by the General Assembly in regular session assembled, 1933.
Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Arkansas and by the Senate of the State of Arkansas, a majority of all members elected to each House agreeing thereto:
That the following is hereby proposed as an Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors at the next general election for Senators and Representatives, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election adopt such Amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:
That Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas be amended by adding thereto the following:
SECTION I. Not less than a majority of the members of each House of the General Assembly may enact a law.
SECTION II. None of the rates for property, excise, privilege or personal taxes, now levied shall be increased by the General Assembly except after the approval of the qualified electors voting thereon at an election, or in case of an emergency, by the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.
SECTION III. Excepting monies raised or collected for educational purposes, highway purposes, to pay Confederate pensions and the just debts of the State, the General Assembly is hereby prohibited from appropriating or expending more than the sum of Two and One-half Million Dollars for all purposes, for any biennial period; provided, the limit herein fixed may be exceeded by the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly.
SECTION IV. In making appropriations for any biennial period, the General Assembly shall first pass the General Appropriation Bill provided for in Section 30 of Article 5 of the Constitution, and no other appropriation bill may be enacted before that shall have been done.
SECTION V. No expense shall be incurred or authorized for either House except by a bill duly passed by both Houses and approved by the Governor.
The provisions of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in conflict with this Amendment are hereby repealed insofar as they are in conflict herewith, and this Amendment shall be self-executing and shall take and have full effect immediately upon its adoption by the electors of the State.
The above resolution was filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Arkansas on the 30th day of January, 1933.
Each elector may vote for, or against, the above proposed Amendment.
WITNESS MY HAND and Official seal of this office this 28th day of March, 1934.
